CHANDLER WINS CASE

VINEYARD STATION ACCIDENT DAMAGE SUITS PASS INTO HISTORY

The final payment of damages growing out of the accident which occurred in July, 1913, at Vineyard Station on the Pacific Electric Railroad, was made yesterday and the famous "Vineyard wreck" passed into history, when the railroad company paid Charles L. Chandler, as attorney for Ingeborg Swendsen the sum of $24,041.58, in satisfaction of a judgment obtained in May, 1914, in the Superior Court. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court, which recently affirmed the judgment against the railroad.

The accident which caused the Pacific Electric company a vast sum of money in litigation, occurred on the evening of Sunday, July 13, 1913, The Venice flyer, a train of three cars, bound for Los Angeles, was stopped by a broken trolley at Vineyard station. A train following, crashed into the flyer with the result the cars were telescoped, fourteen were killed, and scores were injured The motorman on the second train was blamed for not slowing down at the curve and failing to heed the red lantern waved by the conductor of the flyer. Other regulations in regard to placing of torpedoes were not carried out.

RECEPTION THURSDAY

The reception to be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beamon under the auspices of the Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross is in honor of all young men of Glendale who have enlisted in any branch of Uncle Sam's service. The reception is to be held Thursday evening of next week and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, who is the chairman of the committee in charge announces that the general public is invited and it is expected that there will be a large number of Glendalians present to do honor to these young men who have offered their services to their country.

OLD SOLDIERS MEET

Echo Park echoed Friday with songs and patriotic addresses from the mouths of the old soldiers of the N. P. Banks Post and the friends of the post. The W. R. C. and the Sons of Veterans were present and aided in every possible way to make the program a grand success. The dinner hour was an important one and was enjoyed by all present.

Comrade Norton of Glendale, according to his custom, presented a special remembrance card to all comrades who were so fortunate as to have a birthday in the month of July.

Master Edward Whaley gave a recitation which brought forth merited applause. Supervisors Woodley and Dodge were present, the latter having the distinction of being a son of a veteran. Miss Cora Hickman of Park avenue, Tropico, as usual was everywhere present to assist in making the day's exercises a grand success.

Comrade Sanford of Sycamore canyon fame, read an original poem. The main address of the day was "Japan." The Los Angeles drum corps was present and furnished stirring, patriotic music. Comrade Robinson presided over the deliberations of the day.

"SEE AMERICA FIRST"

Well, for the present Americans are probably seeing America if they are seeing any part of the globe. In the last year or two there has been an almost compulsory popular awakening to the value of our national parks, and this general interest will be greatly quickened by the publication by the Department of the Interior of a beautiful portfolio of superb views taken in these parks. The nine pamphlets of this portfolio give photographic views and brief written descriptions of the Yellowstone, the Yosemite, the Sequoia, the Mount Rainer, the Crater Lake, the Mesa Verde, the Glacier and the Rocky Mountain Parks and the region of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado.

SUNDAY MASS MEETING

A big mass meeting of Sunday campaign workers is called for tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Trinity Auditorium. Everybody is invited, but personal workers are especially asked to be present.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Sunday. Southwesterly winds.

STILLING THE TEMPEST

SENATOR LEWIS DOING SERVICE TO THE WORLD IN TAKING LEAD FOR PEACE

Editor Glendale Evening News:

The United States is now in a position to still the raging tempest of world-wide war. Germany again offers to treat for an honorable peace. What more is wanted? What more do the democratic peoples of the earth demand? What more than: "An early, general, and democratic peace to be obtained through negotiation in harmony with tne principles outlined by the President and revolutionary Russia, and accepted democratic forces of France, England, Italy, Germany, Austria, and other countries, namely: No forcible annexation of territory, no punitive indemnities, and free development of all nationalities."

Such a peace would be alike honorable to the United States, the enemies of Germany and to Germany. Let us have such a peace. Let the voice of the people be heard above the roar of the tempest of passion, saying to the angry waves of war: Peace, be still.

Vox populi, vox Dei. If a memorial to Congress is essential to starting the machinery of government on the now open path to peace, an opportunity for its presentation by the democratic forces of America should meet with no delay. Is the Congress awaiting the people's petition as an incentive to action in the matter?

Senator Lewis, of Illinois, does not seem to be. A large and forceful number of his great constituency has obtained his recognition on the floor of the Senate and accordingly proposes to take Germany's new Chancellor at his word—and accord the people of Germany an "honorable peace" with their enemies.

Looked upon as the President's spokesman, in taking the lead in Congress as the head of this great nation-wide movement for now ending the war, Senator Lewis is doing a service, not alone to America, but to all the nations of the earth, not soon to be forgotten, nor late to be rewarded.

Denver, Col., July 24, 1917.

NELSON C. BURCH

AMERICAN HOUSE-WARMING ON FRENCH BATTLEFIELD

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, July 1 (By Mail)—It is a sight for sore eyes to see the Stars and Stripes floating in the war zone of France and under it pretty American girls moving between rows of hospital tents decorating the landscape with their smiles.

To-day I had tea at No. 11 Base Hospital. The old unit from Boston was giving a spread to the new girls, just arrived. And as Chicago No. 12, from Cook County Hospital was in charge of No. 18 General, only a half mile down the road, the girls from Chicago were there too. Also one British general—a Sir—and any number of colonels, majors, captains and lieutenants.

Outside, over a sea of tents, the sun was shining. Inside the tents American girls moved silently to and fro watching over the wounded, while medical officers wearing the American uniform went from bed to bed.

In the middle of the field of canvas stood the marquee under which tea was being poured. Every nurse, off duty at the time, was on hand. Some stood back of the tea table. Others served at the punch bowl—a beautiful, claret-colored fruit punch, as harmless and as free from beguiling liquors as the spring water Moses smote from the rock. The rest made the guests welcome and brought them cakes and buttered bread and things. And smiled and laughed and talked real Chicago and Evansville and Boston talk, their blue uniforms and white headdress adding to the general sunshine. Scraps of conversation mingled with the rattle of spoons in teacups.

"Cincinnati!" one pretty girl exclaimed as she smiled up at a British officer belted Sam Brown-wise. "Do you really know Cincinnati? Why I was born there! I went to Chicago to take up trained nursing at the Cook County."

"Sure I know Cincinnati," the officer smiled. "I'm a Canadian from the States. I was born in Georgia."

"Georgia!" the Sister exclaimed. "What part?"

"Newnan."

"Oh!" There was disappointment in her voice. "I was hoping it would be Augusta. I know a lot of folks down that-a-way."

That-a-way! Oh you American girl.

"So you are from Evansville!" another officer was saying to another nurse. "I've been to Evansville."

MAY BROADEN DRAFT PLAN

SEVEN HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN WILL BE CALLED EACH YEAR TO KEEP TWO MILLION IN TRENCHES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The United States draft may be broadened to include men who reach the minimum age of 21 years before the next call to the colors. It may also exclude men who turn 31 years before the second call. As the law now stands, the war department has the power to keep drafting men to fill up the quotas. After the first two groups of 500,000 men the secretary of war can draft other men to maintain these groups. As wastage runs about one-third of the number drawn, the department will continue to call 700,000 men every year of the war to fill the gaps in order to keep 2,000,000 men in the trenches all the time.

SWITCHMEN STRIKE

TRANSCONTINENTAL FREIGHT TRAFFIC PARALYZED TODAY BY WALKOUT OF CHICAGO R. R. EMPLOYES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, July 28.—Twenty-five hundred switchmen on 19 railroads in and out of Chicago went on a strike early to-day. Although the strike is local, it is having a depressing effect on practically all transcontinental shipping. Hundreds of switchmen are pouring into Chicago to aid the railroads in breaking the strike. Thousands of policemen are on guard to preserve order.

The Switchmen's Union of North America charges the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen with striking to force the S. U. A. out of existence in aiding the strikebearers.

Nearly half the transcontinental freight traffic of the United States is paralyzed to-day. Passenger traffic is practically normal.

MRS. BOLLINGER DIES

MOTHER OF INFANT WHOSE CONDITION CAUSED WIDE DISCUSSION OF MEDICAL ETHICS SUCCUMBS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

CHICAGO, July 28.—The final chapter in the death of Baby Bollinger, whose life Dr. Haiselden of this city refused to save in 1915 because of deformities, was written this afternoon when the baby's mother died. Her death was due, her husband believes, to a broken heart. The shock of the hopeless condition of her infant at first, the doctor's verdict and the attending notoriety were more than she could bear.

EIGHT HUNDRED COMMISSIONED

LARGE PER CENT. OF MEN IN OFFICERS' TRAINING CAMP AT SAN FRANCISCO GIVEN RANK

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Eight hundred men in the Presidio officers' training camp have been commissioned in the officers' reserve corps to date. There are 2203 men in the camp.

RUSSIAN WOMEN IN FIERCE CONFLICT

"LEGION OF DEATH" SUFFERS HEAVY CASUALTIES IN BRILLIANT CHARGE AGAINST ENEMY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, July 28.—Russia's women fighters in the "Legion of Death" suffered severe casualties in a brilliant baptism of fire, according to statements here. The roll includes 20 killed and 8 captured.

IN THE THEATRE OF WAR

GERMANS ARE CONDUCTING VIOLENT OFFENSIVE MOVEMENTS ON ALL EUROPEAN BATTLE FRONTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, July 28.—Germany is on the offensive on all battle fronts according to official statements. Her armies are still assaulting the crumbling Russian lines in Galicia, Bukowina, and on the eastern front. On the western battle line the crown prince has for ten days been conducting a powerful drive on French positions in Champagne and along the Chemin des Dames.

To-day's official British reports mention artillering in Armentieres and north of Nieuport, also north of Ypres. Dispatches from the front indicate long duration of heavy fire and details its character as of great violence.

Russian resistance is apparently solidifying after the disastrous breakdown in the Tarnopol-Stanislau sector, but despite this fact the Teutons are still advancing.

APPELLATE EXEMPTION BOARDS

SACRAMENTO, July 28.—California's appellate exemption boards are to hold preliminary meetings next Wednesday. Southern California Boards are to meet—Division 1, Los Angeles City Hall; Division 2, Court House, Bakersfield.

HAPPENINGS IN STATE

REFERENDUM PETITION FILED WITH SECRETARY OF STATE

SACRAMENTO, July 28.—A referendum petition, containing 40,000 names, to have the bill limiting the amount of taxes to be raised in the aggregate, placed on the ballot at the next general election, has been filed with Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state.

The attorney general has held that this bill cannot be referred to the people, as it relates to revenue, but Jordan holds that the filing of the referendum petition automatically stops the law going into effect July 27.

"I'm not going to worry about whether it shall or shall not go on the ballot until next July," said Jordan. "The petition has a sufficient number of names. That's all that I am concerned in."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Pompeii has nothing on San Francisco. Employees of the board of public works engaged in building a sewer on Davis street between Market and Sacramento streets today, in their excavating came upon a basalt pavement with a granite curbing. It is only about a yard below the present pavement and Timothy Reardon, of the public works board, says he believes it dates from 1871 and was covered by street pavers some years later.

SACRAMENTO, July 28.—Plans have been completed by the state horticultural commission to enforce rigidly the new apple law, which went into effect Friday, prohibiting the sale of wormy or diseased apples to the people of California.

Examinations were held by the state civil service commission Monday and Tuesday, at the request of the horticultural commission, to create eligible lists for apple inspectors.

George P. Weldon, chief deputy horticultural commissioner, announces that within a few days fifteen to twenty of these inspectors will be appointed, some to serve at the orchards in Watsonville and Sebastopol, others to inspect the fruit at the big markets and produce houses in the larger cities of the state.

For inspection in isolated districts in emergency cases, permission has been obtained from the civil service commission to temporarily appoint the county horticultural commission an apple inspector.

OWNS POMONA RANCH

C. H. Bott of the Glendale Book Store may at times be seen riding through the streets of Glendale in his new Buick Six touring car on his way to or from his Pomona 10-acre ranch. Mr. Bott's friends say that the big apricot crop on that new ranch has occupied considerable of the owner's time lately. Mr. Bott acquired his Pomona possession by a property exchange deal several months ago. The ranch has on it a beautiful dwelling house and is in every way an ideal place for a pleasant home.

THE TROPICO ELECTION

For the benefit of Tropico-Glendale readers who may wish to learn under what terms the election is called for the annexation of Tropico to Los Angeles, the resolution calling the election is published on page 4 of this issue. The Evening News, while published in Glendale, is the only local daily newspaper in the Tropico-Glendale-Casa Verdugo community, and it feels an equal interest in the residents of the whole community.

NEW PLAYGROUND CAMP

The U. S. forestry department has offered the Los Angeles playground commission a magnificent camp site at Converse Flats, situated near the Santa Ana canyon. The site for the new summer camp is about 50 acres in extent and was formerly a government forestry experiment station. The site is but four miles from Big Bear lake, and one mile from the Santa Ana river, and it will have a tent group, swimming pool, dining hall and other accommodations. The present playgrounds at Seeley Flats will be conducted for family parties exclusively all summer hereafter. The new campsite is said to be superior to the Seeley Flats location.

A French physician, Dr. Delbet, has compounded a solution of magnesium chloride, salt, and caustic soda, which is antiseptic without being toxic or irritating to the cellular tissues of the body. This will be of particular value for wounds received in battle or trenches, where the injury is apt to become seriously infected.

EXEMPTION CLAIMS

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THOSE WHO CLAIM EXEMPTION FROM DRAFT

Here are instructions issued by the war department for those desiring to claim exemption from the draft.

In case you intend to make a claim for exemption on industrial grounds, including agriculture, learn what federal district has original jurisdiction for these claims. This can be learned from your local exemption board, which is:

District No. 7—Total registration 1903. John T. Wilson, Henry C. Needham and Mattison B. Jones. Glendale headquarters, Chamber of Commerce Bldg.

With the red ink number on your registration card keep yourself informed as to the order in which you stand for call by watching the lists at your local office or paper. Whether you file claim for exemption or not, you must appear on the day named in the notice for physical examination.

From the date that notice that you are called is mailed and posted in the lists seven days will be allowed to file a claim for exemption. Ten days additional are allowed to submit proof in the form of affidavits.

To file your claim for exemption, go to the local board and get form 110 for exemption or form 121 for discharge, or if the board has not the printed forms available for distribution, consult the form pamphlet and copy the form shown there. Fill out the proper form and file it with the board having original jurisdiction.

Act quickly.

This must be done within seven days after notice given you to present yourself.

Following are the only grounds for exemption:

That you are an officer, legislative, executive or judicial of the United States, a state or territory or the District of Columbia.

That you are a regular or duly ordained minister of religion.

That you were on May 18, 1917, a student preparing for the ministry in any recognized theological or divinity school.

That you are in the military or naval service of the United States.

That you are a subject of Germany whether you have taken out papers or not.

That you are a resident alien who has not taken out first papers.

In addition to claims for exemption claims for discharge may be made on any of the following grounds, which are the only grounds for discharge by a local board:

That you are a county or municipal officer.

That you are a custom house clerk.

That you are employed by the United States in transmission of mails.

That you are an artificer or workman employed in an armory, arsenal or navy yard of the United States.

That you are employed in the service of the United States—under conditions.

That you are a mariner.

That you are married with a dependent wife or child.

That you have a widowed mother dependent on you.

That you have dependent parents.

That you are the father of a motherless child under 16.

That you are the brother of an orphaned child or children under 16 who are dependent on you.

That you are a member of a religious sect opposed to war.

If your claim for exemption is allowed a certificate will be issued to you. This certificate may be withdrawn at any time if conditions change.

If you wish to appeal to the district board from the decision of the local board, go to the headquarters of the local board and get the proper forms.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA BANQUET

The president of the University of Nebraska Alumni Association announces that the regular quarterly banquet of the association will be held tonight at the Pin Ton in Los Angeles, newspaper announcements to the contrary being an error. The Alumni association will co-operate with the Nebraska state association in the picnic to be held a week from today. The after dinner speaker at tonight's banquet will be Dr. H. J. Webber, who is in charge of the Citrus Experiment station at Riverside.

UP IN THE AIR ON THE FOOD QUESTION

We humble, every-day plodders who are attending to the duties of life as best we can must enjoy an occasional smile when we read and hear what the most wise ones have to say on the question of food conservation. There is so much said and there is so little accomplished. Three months ago a great cry went up calling attention to the food famine that was near at hand. Onions, potatoes, cabbages and other vegetables were kept under lock and key, and even in buildings on some of the thoroughfare streets of Los Angeles the very highly scented vegetable was exhibited in heavy iron safes, and even a real estate dealer in Glendale paid high honor to the anti-scurvy product of the garden by partially enclosing two or three of the specimens in a small box and calling attention to high prices by uniquely lettered lines. Three months ago the onion was IT, and now the onion is it.

The very expensive and rare cabbage three months ago was served in small portions at hotel, and for the Irish potato, to get a whole potato was deserving a generous tip to the waiter. What a change a period of less than three months has brought about. Onions are going to waste in the gardens, and ranchmen are plowing the cabbages under for fertilizer, and the potato is becoming a very common article of produce on the market.

What about fruit? There is plenty of it, too. It is lying under the trees in many orchards, rotting. The owners of ranches and gardens can not get a price for it that will pay them for placing it on the market. California is a fruit producing state, and he who is denied the privilege of partaking of the luscious fruits must indeed live in exile.

Odl mother earth is ready to do her part and the tillers of the soil are ready to do their part. The difficulty is to bring the products of the farm and garden and the consumer together. The San Fernando Valley, the San Gabriel Valley, the Imperial Valley and all other fertile valleys in California produce an abundance of fruits and vegetables, but how is the man who loafs on the Plaza in Los Angeles or who lives in the city, working two days out of the week, to become in possession of fruits and vegetables at any price? The place for these men is on the land, where they can live a life of independence. If th fruits, vgetabls and grains can not be taken to the people in need of them, the people should go to where the products of the earth may b procured at little expense.

The Burbank ranchman referred to in yesterday's Evening News has cabbages going to waste, when within ten miles from that ranch thousands of people would be glad to have cabbage on their table. The trouble is the head of the family is too lazy and indifferent to place himself in a position to procure the cabbages at any price. If the Plaza men would form a club and send out to the Burbank ranch for a hundred cabbages, as they form clubs to buy beer, and as they individually pay out money for cigarettes and tobacco, the food story would have an entirely different ending. The vegetable and fruit ranches are not far from us, and why not carry the nickels and dimes to the vegetable and fruit fields instead of to the saloon and the cigarette and tobacco stands?

Now, in conclusion, may we say that what is needed is for the producer to produce all it is possible for him to produce. It is in place to see to it that every foot of tillable soil is placed under cultivation. It is in place for the consumer to buy liberally and waste nothing. Liberal buying on the part of those who can afford it would tend to give employment to the tillers of the soil, who in turn will be enabled to spend some of the money they earn for buying manufactured products, the makers of which will come in possession of money with which they can buy vegetables. The cooperation chain is an endless one that must not be disconnected or broken if the very best results are to be obtained.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION

There are some irreconcilable things in the food administration policy proposed by the government.

Let us all make clear to ourselves exactly what is coming. We are going to have not "food conservation advice cards," but "food cards," which will flatly restrict the amount of food that we can get.

If the food administration is successful, it will demand two irreconcilable things: It will demand, first, that we eat less than last year, in order to set free some hundred millions bushels of grain, some million pounds of meat and fats for consumption by the allies. If we are to give the neutrals anything to eat our self-imposed restrictions must be still greater.

That is one thing which the food administration desires to bring to pass. On the other hand, the food administration is going to reduce the cost of living in this country. It is going to make flour, meat, wheat, vegetables cheaper than they were before. It aims to do this by the abolition of speculation and the middlemen. That aim is fair and right and just and necessary.

But will someone kindly explain how the consumption of food is to be reduced in this country if it is to be made cheaper? We are told that hundreds of thousands of people are under nourished today. We surely desire that these people be properly nourished. Voluntary appeals for the reduction in consumption can be addressed only to the most prosperous classes, for only these classes have too much to eat at the present time. Does any one imagine that the voluntary restriction which these classes will impose upon themselves, unless compulsion is applied—does any one dream that this reduction in consumption will equal the enormous increase in the use of foodstuffs, if these are brought within the reach of the poorer classes?

It is unthinkable. If we reduce prices as they should be reduced and go no further in our control, the result will be such a rapid disappearance of food supplies that we shall not only have no surplus for the allies, but we shall not have enough to last to the next harvest. Remember, it is a narrow margin with which we are operating.

There is only one answer. Mr. Hoover and his food administration will have to restrict the consumption of foodstuffs among the population of the United States. We shall have to have meat cards, bread cards, potato cards. If the restricting influence of price upon consumption is removed, there must be some other restraint. Voluntary appeal will not suffice. It has not sufficed in countries fighting for their lives—Germany and England. Why should it suffice here? We are 3000 miles away from the conflict, and for most Americans it carries a strong element of unreality.

Great harm is now being done in Congress by defenders of the food control bill when they insist that it is not proposed to exercise any interference with the table of the individual family.

It is either ignorance or prevarication to talk thus. Unless interference with the individual family's table is exercised, the proposed food control bill will bring upon us and the allies not success but starvation and defeat.—Monrovia News.

WOMEN RAILROAD WORKERS

The Santa Fe railroad is giving employment to women in positions usually filled by men. It finds them very proficient. They learn quickly. Fifty women are employed at draughting in the office of the construction engineer of that road. They are making good. Officials of the road express the confident belief that women can become fully as useful as men in virtually all branches of railroading which women are physically able to fill. Other railroads find the same measure of competency from women as does the Santa Fe.

This is significant. For, should the great war continue long, great numbers of men will be drawn into military service and women will be needed to take their places. The Pacific Electric is planning to install women conductors on its trolley cars, according to statement of the general counsel of that road. In France women have been doing this work ever since early in the war and are succeeding at it.

A plea has been made for the non-drafting of German-born citizens into the United States Army for service in Europe, and it is difficult to withhold sympathy from such ademand, though really when a man accepts the advantages of citizenship he must also accept all the responsibilities with it. But what one would like to ask the German papers, who are putting forward this plea, is for an expression of their opinion on the illegal removal of thousands of Belgian and French men and women to the German munition works, to be employed, contrary to the laws of war, in making munitions, by forced labor, for the slaughter of their husbands, or brothers, or children.—Whittier News.

MISDIRECTED EFFORTS

It is worth while to remember that the "leak" which caused trouble to our war proceedings came through the war or navy department and not through the press. If the administration had saved some of the energy it expended in an effort to get control of the press and had spent some of that effort on the eradication of traitors from the departments, some good might have been accomplished.

MAYBE IT WAS A FOLDING ONE

Pilfering had been going on among the men in an engineering works. The master spoke to the foreman, who was an Irishman, in respect to the same, telling him if he had any suspicions to search the men before leaving.

One evening Pat had occasion to do this, and while in the act of telling the men to take their coats off the master came by.

"Well, Pat, what is missing now?"

"A wheelbarrow, sir."

"She's a clever conversationalist."

"Very. She can even make a man who is talking about himself stop to listen."—Exchange.

HON. A. BARTON HEPBURN SAID IN A SPEECH BEFORE LIFE INSURANCE PRESIDENTS

"Ours is a service of education—helping men to see the importance of not only insuring their future credit but of protecting their families and of saving up for that proverbial "Rainy Day" which comes in every man's life when he cannot work.

A man may buy a farm, a horse, a bill of goods whenever he wishes. He may be able to get his insurance today, but to-morrow he may have to face the sad message, "Too late." 25,000 of the men declined for insurance last year could have gotten it all right if they had applied for it sixty days earlier."

Why delay? I will even help you to finance a new policy.

The many friends of Miss Merva Scott, 1312 Lomita avenue, will be sorry to know that she is very seriously ill, having been confined to her home for more than a week. Her condition is causing her friends grave fears.

Today, July 28, Master Charles Robert Ellis, 537 S. Kenwood street, is 6 years old. He received many pleasant souvenirs of the occasion and was treated by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis, to his first trip to Catalina, where they are spending the week-end.

MARKET NEXT THURSDAY

Through the kind consent of City Manager Watson, the lot on the southeast corner of Louise and Broadway will be used as the site of the weekly juvenile vegetable market. As thousands of persons attend the band concert which is held on this same plot of gronud, the public is well acquainted with the location.

Here, every Thursday morning from 8 to 12 o'clock will be held an open air vegetable market, under the auspices of the Glendale Garden Society. Vegetables, fruits, eggs, home made jams, jellies, candy, etc., will be displayed for sale by the youthful merchants of Glendale, Tropico and Casa Verdugo. Large crowds are expected to be in attendance. Adv.

HINTS ABOUT FIRELESS COOKERS

Th July Woman's Home Companion says: "The fireless cooker has come to stay. Its usefulness is no longer a question, but a fact. It is one of the modern conveniences and, unlike many of them, it does not keep running up bills after it is installed. Buy it, and the cost is ended. It does not get out of repair unless greatly abused. It does save fuel bills and labor. It cooks many things better than they can be cooked in any other way. There are many kinds of fireless cookers on the market. In choosing among them, one may select the kind best adapted for the particular conditions it is to meet and the space in the kitchen it is to occupy. Of course a factory-made cooker is best, but anyone who cannot afford to buy one will find it worth while to use a homemade one. A person with only a little mechanical skill, by following the directions which can be procured from the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C. can make a cooker that will fulfill most of the needs."

A HINT TO HIM

A prosperous-looking citizen, on a down-town corner in Boston, bought a newspaper from an alert little newsboy, who made change instantly, without speaking a word. But the man lingered.. "How many papers do you sell here a night?" he said.

"About fifty," said the newsie.

"What is your name?"

"Tim Manning."

"Listen, Tim," said the man. "When I was your age, I had this very corner for a stand. But I sold two hundred papers a night, and I did it by carefully saying 'Thank you' to everyone who bought a paper. I said it loudly so that they would be sure to hear it.' "

Three evenings later the man came by again, and bought another paper of the little chap on the corner.

"Thank you!" said Tim not recognizing him.

"How's business?" asked the man.

Then Tim knew him. "I'm selling seventy-five papers every night, sir," he said. "I ain't going to forget that any more, neither," and he grinned all over his honest freckled face.

Tim had learned his first lesson of the value of courtesy to all.—King's Treasurers.

THE WHY OF ABBREVIATIONS

Viz., oz., cwt., dwt., £ s. d.

Do you know why we write these everyday signs, and what their origins are? Viz. is derived from the first two letters of the Latin word "videlicet," meaning "namely." The z is a corruption of an ancient sign something like a 3 that, in the Middle Ages was always placed at the end of an abbreviated word to mark its incompletion.

In course of time this sign became z.

The same applies to oz., our abbreviation for ounce.

The letters lb., standing for pounds in weight, are the first and third letters of the Latin word "librae." Cwt. (hundred weight) and dwt. (pennyweight) are also abbreviations of Latin words. The c is the Latin numeral for a hundred; the d the initial letter or denarius (penny), and the wt is short for the weight.

£ s. d. are the first letters of the Latin words "librae," "soldi," and "Denarii," meaning pounds, shillings and pence.—Answers.

A couple were recently married. The ceremony over, the wife began to weep copiously. "What's the matter?" asked the new husband. "I never told you that I don't know how to cook," sobbed the bride. "Don't fret," said the husband, "I'll not have anything to cook; I'm an editor."—Exchange.

BY THE RULES OF THE GAME

Little Mary Lou was eager to get back to her new doll and didn't know there was going to be any dessert. She slipped quietly from her chair, hoping she would not be observed.

Out in the rall she met the cook with the ice cream, and as quietly as she had left it she slipped back to her accustomed place at the table.

"Mary Lou" said her mother reprovingly, "I thought you had finished your dinner. It isn't polite to come back."

"But I didn't excuse myself, mother," the little girl said quickly.—New York Post.

"Honest!" said the girl. "Didn't you like it there? I think Evansville is the prettiest place in the world!"

"Have another glass of punch," suggested a pretty Sister with a tray as she stood in front of a small group of American youngsters wearing the uniform of a lieutenant.

"Don't care if I do" said the crowd, in chorus. "Thanks."

Then somebody said: "Reminds me of a real old Alabama church sociable, this does."

I turned to see who the speaker could be. It was an Army Reserve surgeon, ranking as captain, from Selma.

Nearby two girls were talking .

"Why don't our officers wear Sam Brown belts like the British?" one of them wanted to know. "The English officers are ever so much more chic in their uniforms. Our men, with their standing collars on their tunics, look like privates beside the British. Don't you think so?"

Three or four girls from the Chicago unit stood about one of the Harvard girls, in France since a year ago. They were eyeing her snowy, flowing headdress enviously.

"Oh why can't we have coiffures like yours?" one of them moaned with mock tragedy in her voice. "Our little bits of white muslin with the tiny red crosses on them look so common beside yours. All the society ladies have adopted your kind. They are becoming to everybody."

"Just look at my uniform," a second girl exclaimed. "I just must send it to the cleaners to have that spot removed and of course out here in the country there isn't any cleaner."

"Yes there is," said the pretty girl addressed, "and it's just down the road. Go down that way pointing) until you come to the bayonet practice, turn to the right and go on as far as the bombing school. Then you will see the sign right next to the boiling-oil engineer's laboratory."

"Oh, thank you so much!" said the girl with the spot.

And so the American girls went on talking.

As I left one of the older nurses said gravely:

"This doesn't look very warlike, does it? And if the folks at home could see us now they would probably say we were not paying attention to our jobs. But teas like this don't happen every day. We have saved up for a long time in order to have these delicacies to-day. When to-night comes, and to-morrow, and all the other to-nights and to-morrows, we will be caring for wounded men, fresh from the battlefields. And it is hard work. Just as we have the phonograph play to keep the patients cheerful so do we try to take the Sisters' minds off their work now and then."

Suddenly the nurse smiled and became gay again. "It's a regular little Sociable, isn't it?" she said.

SAVING TALK

"Do you believe in telepathy?"

"You mean," responded Miss Cayenne, "the art of communicating thought without audible speech?"

"Something like that."

"I am not sure whether it could be made to work or not. But I know a number of people who ought to try it."—Washington Star.

TWO WAYS OF RISING FROM THE BED

When we tumble out of the right side of the bed,
How bright the sun shines overhead!
How good our breakfast tastes, and oh!
How happily to school we go!
And o'er the day what peace is shed—
When we tumble out of the right side of the bed.

When we tumble out of the wrong side of the bed,
How dusky the sky frowns overhead!
How dull our lessons, how cross our mothers;
How perfectly horrid our sisters and brothers!
(And they all say too, it's our fault instead,)
When we tumble out of the wrong side of the bed.
—The Outlook.

ALL HAPPENS IN A SECOND

A second is the smallest division of time in general use, and when we consider that in one year there are about 31,558,000 of these periods it would certainly seem as if it was enough for all practical purposes. But, after all, a good deal can happen in a second.

A light wave, for instance, passes through a distance of about 186,000 miles in this length of time. The earth in itself moves in its orbit at a rate of about twenty miles a second.

A tuning fork of the French standard vibrates 870 times per second to produce the note A on the treble staff.

LA CRESCENTA

The band concert last Saturday night was a huge success, artistically and financially. The boys and their leader, Mr. Maygrove, command our highest comments. Of the outside talent, the Misses Shirley and Ethel Irvine, the whistlers, with Miss Lorain Griffin at the piano, will long be remembered. Miss Marguerite Mandaville, the reader, charmed us all with her sweet personality and her splendid renditions. The little dancers, Mrs. Young's two nieces, gave us quite some thrills in the Highland fling and sword dance. But the honors of the evening lay with the Lew Austin Wallace company for their one-act drama, The Old Clothes Man. Lew Wallace as the old Jew, Ethel Lewenstein as his daughter, and Earl B. Young as the husband turned burglar, were thoroughly enjoyable and held the large audience breathless till the curtain fell. Crescenta has lots of latent talent. A vote of thanks is due Mr. Judd Thompson for his work and management of the whole affair. The receipts are not all in, but a good sum was netted by the band to help pay for their instruments.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Baldridge, who have spent a delightful fortnight at Huntington Lake, have returned to Ononodarka, their beautiful Crescenta home.

There have been drawn some six or seven men from our valley. There have been volunteers, too, who have gone from here. Now is the time to volunteer to help at the Red Cross Classes, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 10:30 to 4:30. If you can't join, come and work with us anyway. If you can't work all day, give us several hours. Remember, it may help our boys, and all the boys are somebody's boys. The classes are held at the school house, with Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Claflin in charge.

Mr. Goddard, who some will remember lived at the Esperanza a while ago, passed away at his La Canada home last Saturday. Private services at Warren, Ives & Salisbury's, in Pasadena, were held Monday.

Miss Florence Haugh, the teacher, spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. Hauber and will go to the Yosemite for August with a party of friends.

Mrs. Dickinson, who has been in Arizona for some months, motored out to look over her place on Mayfield avenue.

Mr. Hauber has begun picking his peaches, early Crawfords, and reports them ripening fast.

Miss Grace Shropshire entertained the sewing club at her Glendale home at a delightful pink and white luncheon. Covers were laid for eight: Misses Dorothy Hunt, Frae Morse Wells, Dorothy Martin, Ruth Wilson, Marguerite Hauber, Mrs. Thelma Wilcox and little Betty June Pickrell.

Mrs. D. E. Wetherbee and Mrs. C. D. Miller have gone to Switzers Camp for a week's vacation.

Mrs. Mary Thompson, whose youngest son, Joe, volunteered from here, reports another son in Los Angeles drawn in the draft.

Mr. E. N. Nettleton, who is in the Middle West on a business trip, writes of good times, plenty of rain and bumper crops.

Mrs. F. M. Scott is enjoying a visit from her grandniece Dorothy.

Miss Lovell of Santa Monica spent a brief vacation in our valley, the guest of Mrs. Hauber.

"The Smugglers" will be with us next week. Donald Brian, a popular stage favorite, returns to the screen under auspicious as well as thoroughly amusing circumstances, in the Famous Players Film Company's comedy production, "The Smugglers." This laughable series of comic tragedies which results from the attempt of John Tattleby Watts, Esq., who has made millions by converting hay into breakfast food, to recover his wife's $20,000 pearls, which he has carelessly lost and for which he has substituted bogus pearls, is presented with much humor and many thrills. The culmination of Watts' trials occurs at the customs house, when he attempts to smuggle in the bogus pearls in order to avoid the exposure which would result from his declaraing them at their supposed $20,000 valuation. In spite of his efforts, however, the indignant Mrs. Watts learns of the substitution of her pearls. In the following scenes Watts learns that the belief that "pearls are made of tears" is composed of more truth than imagination.

Ford A. Carpenter, meteorologist of the United States weather bureau, was guest at the Levy ranch, last Wednesday.

Miss Winifred Lentz of Los Angeles, is week-end guest of Mrs. Belcher, on New York avenue.

Mrs. Levy and daughters, Lucile and Ruth, were guests at a delightful luncheon and theater party given by Mr. and Mrs. Ford A. Carpenter, Thursday.

A. C. Cobb has had for the past week, a team and two men working on his place, removing the rocks.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

The good effects of the Feast of Dedication of last week is that "The Friendly Church," on the corner of Fifth and Maryland is going on its way rejoicing, in unity and harmony. It is showing a united front to the enemy and determined to wrench victory along every line in building up a strong organization for communal good.

At 9:30 the Sunday school holds its interesting session under a capable and efficient Supt., Dr. F. H. Kuhns, who knows HOW to lead a school in real Bible study. Come and hear him. At 11 o'clock the pastor will bring a most telling and impressive message on "How God Punished Holy Men." It is a warning to christians of all churches.

At 6:30 the C. E. will hold its delightful session. At 7:30, the hour for evening worship, the pastor will again bring another divine message entitled, "A Study in Contrast: Saul the King of Men," and "Paul the King of Hearts." Men and women you should hear these messages if not regular worshipers elsewhere. You owe it to yourselves to be in attendance somewhere. You want to live in a moral community, you want a religious atmosphere to have its influence upon your home and children. Why not be men and women with moral backbone, and get to church somewhere in the community. A glad hand and a warm smile and a "glad to see you" will welcome you at this church both morning and evening. Remember this church is the true "Open Door Church,, in this community, being always open from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m. for rest, meditation and for prayer. Come and feel welcome.
